

Betsy McCall's Thanksgiving Day

"Thanksgiving is special so I'm wearing my dress with the Betsy McCall roses on it," Betsy said. For dinner Mother had invited a young lady visiting America from India

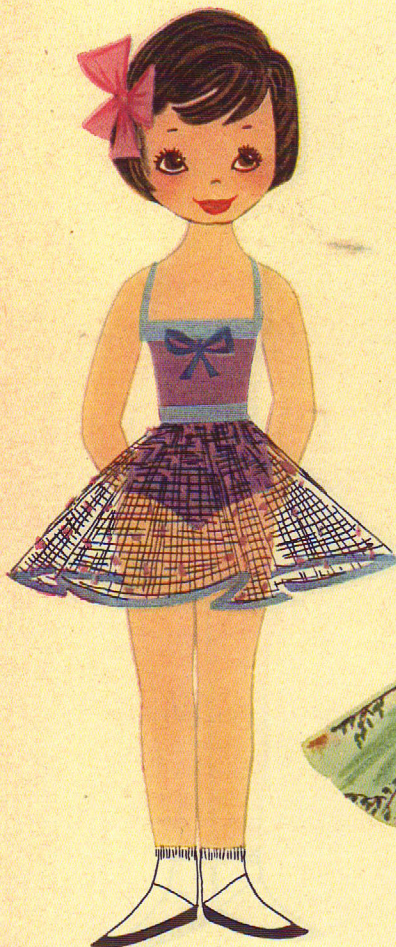

"What a pretty dress, Betsy!" said their guest, whose name was Maya. "Thank you. The roses on it are just like the ones in my garden," Betsy said. "I like your dress too"

"It's called a sari," Maya explained. "In India where I live all the women dress like this." And she told them all about her family in India and about the customs of the people

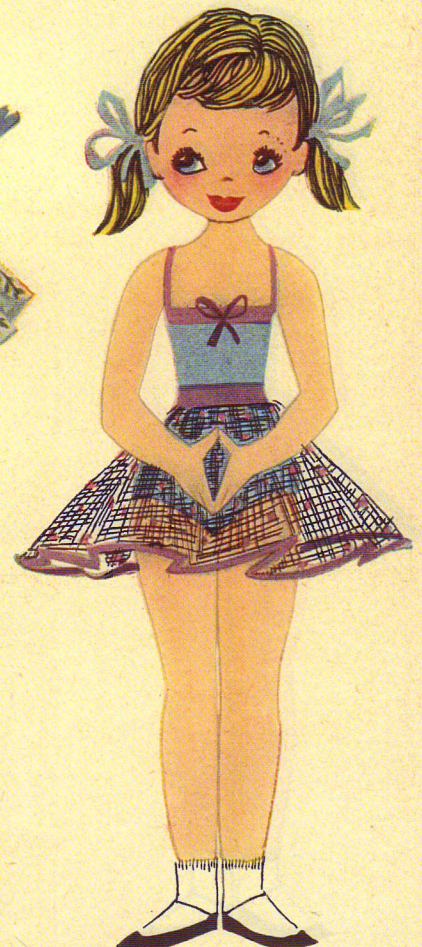

"It was the best Thanksgiving ever," Betsy said. "It's fun to learn about other people and countries that way. I hope Maya will come back when my Betsy McCall roses are in bloom"

This is Betsy McCall

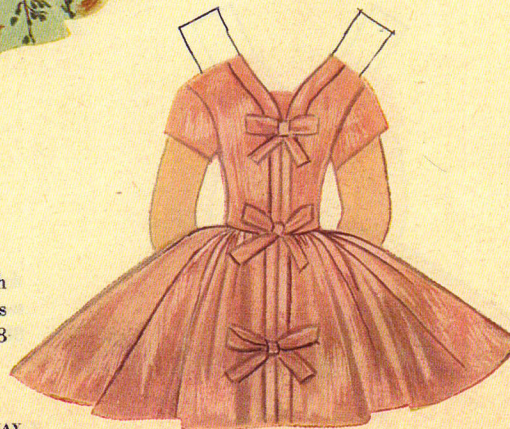

Betsy's cousin Barbara has a Betsy McCall rose print dress too. Sizes 3 to 6x, about $6; 7 to 12, about $8

This is Barbara McCall

Betsy wore her dress with Betsy McCall roses on it for Thanksgiving. Sizes 3 to 6x, about $6; 7 to 12, about $8

Betsy told Maya about this dress which is exactly the color of her roses. Sizes 3 to 6x, about $6; 7 to 12, about $8

THESE DRESSES BY KATE GREENAWAY MAY BE SEEN AT STORES LISTED ON PAGE 180

© Copyright 1956 McCall Corporation